

Southeast CUNA Management School Scholarship

Background

The Southeast Regional Credit Union Schools (SRCUS) board has established the SRCUS Management School Scholarship. The SRCUS Management School Scholarship, awarded on the basis of future potential and involvement in the credit union movement, exists to encourage credit union personnel to become more informed, competent employees.

Scholarship Award

The SRCUS Management School Scholarship is a scholarship for use at the Southeast CUNA Management School in Athens, Georgia. The Scholarship is awarded for the current year. Second and Third year students must reapply for scholarships each year. Scholarship funds may be used toward tuition and expenses.

Established in 1971, the Southeast CUNA Management School is the most comprehensive, college-level training opportunity available for southeastern credit union professionals. Students take a series of courses during each eight-day session for three consecutive years. Each session provides an opportunity for students to master a challenging curriculum, participate in hands-on projects, and exchange ideas with fellow attendees. Graduates of the Southeast CUNA Management School consistently reach top leadership positions in credit unions and are prepared to handle the challenges credit unions face in human resource management, operations, marketing, financial analysis, risk management, and much more.

Qualification

The SRCUS Management School Scholarship is open to all professionals from Kentucky Credit Union League-affiliated credit unions. Recipient(s) must reapply each year.

Applicants applying for the scholarship are required to provide the following:

- Completed application form; and
- Letter of endorsement from applicant's credit union supervisor or official.
